Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to application filed October 1, 2003.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-11 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claim 1 of U. S. Patent No. 6,564,294 since the claim, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

A question of patentability is raised with respect to representative claim 1 of the instant application under the judicially doctrine of "obviousness-type" double patenting with respect to U.S. Patent No. 6,564,294.

More specifically, OPQR maintains that in view of the "obviousness-type" double patenting rationale enunciated in Georgia Pacific Corp v United States Gypsum Co., 52 USPQ2d 1590, U.S. Court of Appeals Federal Circuit 1999, representative application claim 1 merely defines an obvious variation of the invention claimed in US Patent 6,636,950.

Initially it should be noted that the present application is a continuation application of parent patent 6,564,294 having the same inventive entity. The Assignee in both applications is Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The entire disclosures of the instant application and patent number 6,564,294 are identical.

Claim 1 of the patent is compared to claim 1 of instant application in the table below.

Instant Application	Patent
1. A storage system comprising: a plurality of disk devices; and a disk controller, wherein said disk controller comprises: a plurality of interfaces including host computer interfaces which are connectable to host computers and disk device interfaces which are connectable to said plurality of disk devices, wherein each of said interfaces includes a plurality of processors; a broadcast register connected to said interfaces in a one-to-one ratio by respective access paths; a cache memory unit; and a selector,	1. A disk controller comprising: a plurality of interfaces including host computer interfaces which interface to host computers or disk device interfaces which interface to disk devices, wherein said interfaces respectively have a plurality of processors and a memory; a shared memory unit connected to said interfaces by access paths in a one-to-one ratio by respective access paths, said shared memory unit having a shared memory in which control information is stored, wherein each of the processors of

wherein said host computer interfaces and said disk device interfaces are connected via said selector to said cache memory unit, wherein said host computer interfaces and said disk device interfaces are directly connected to said broadcast register, wherein one of said processors of each of said interfaces transmits broadcast data to another one of said processors via said broadcast register. (Claim 1)	each of said interfaces transmits broadcast data to said shared memory unit; and a plurality of control signal lines, each of said control signal lines connecting respective interfaces and said shared memory unit, and wherein said shared memory unit transmits interruption signals to said interfaces by way of respective control signal lines when one of the processors writes broadcast data into said shared memory by way of respective access paths, and wherein upon receiving an interruption signal, one of the processors of each of said interfaces reads the broadcast data written in said shared memory unit and writes the read-out broadcast data in said memory within said interface. (Claim 1)

Claim 1 of the instant application is anticipated by claim 1 of that patent contain all the limitations of claim 1 of the instant application. Claim 1 of the instant application therefore is not patently distinct from the earlier patent claim and as such is unpatentable for obvious-type double patenting.

Under the rules of GATT/NAFTA for implementation of the 20 years term effective June 8, 1995, the term of the affronted U.S. patent ends the same date as the instant application. Therefore, patent protection rights due application from U.S. Patent No. 6,564,294 B1 cannot be timewise extended by issuance of the instant application even without a properly drafted terminal disclaimer in this case. However in lieu of the cancellation of the claims or abandonment of the instant application, applicants must overcome this question of patentability by submission of a paper that at least addresses the "enforceability/common ownership" provision of a terminal disclaimer referred to in 37 CFR 1.321 (C) (3).
